

Customers signal growing interest in powertrain solutions for electric and hybrid vehicles.

Incremental development into the e-mobility market following the lead of OEMs.

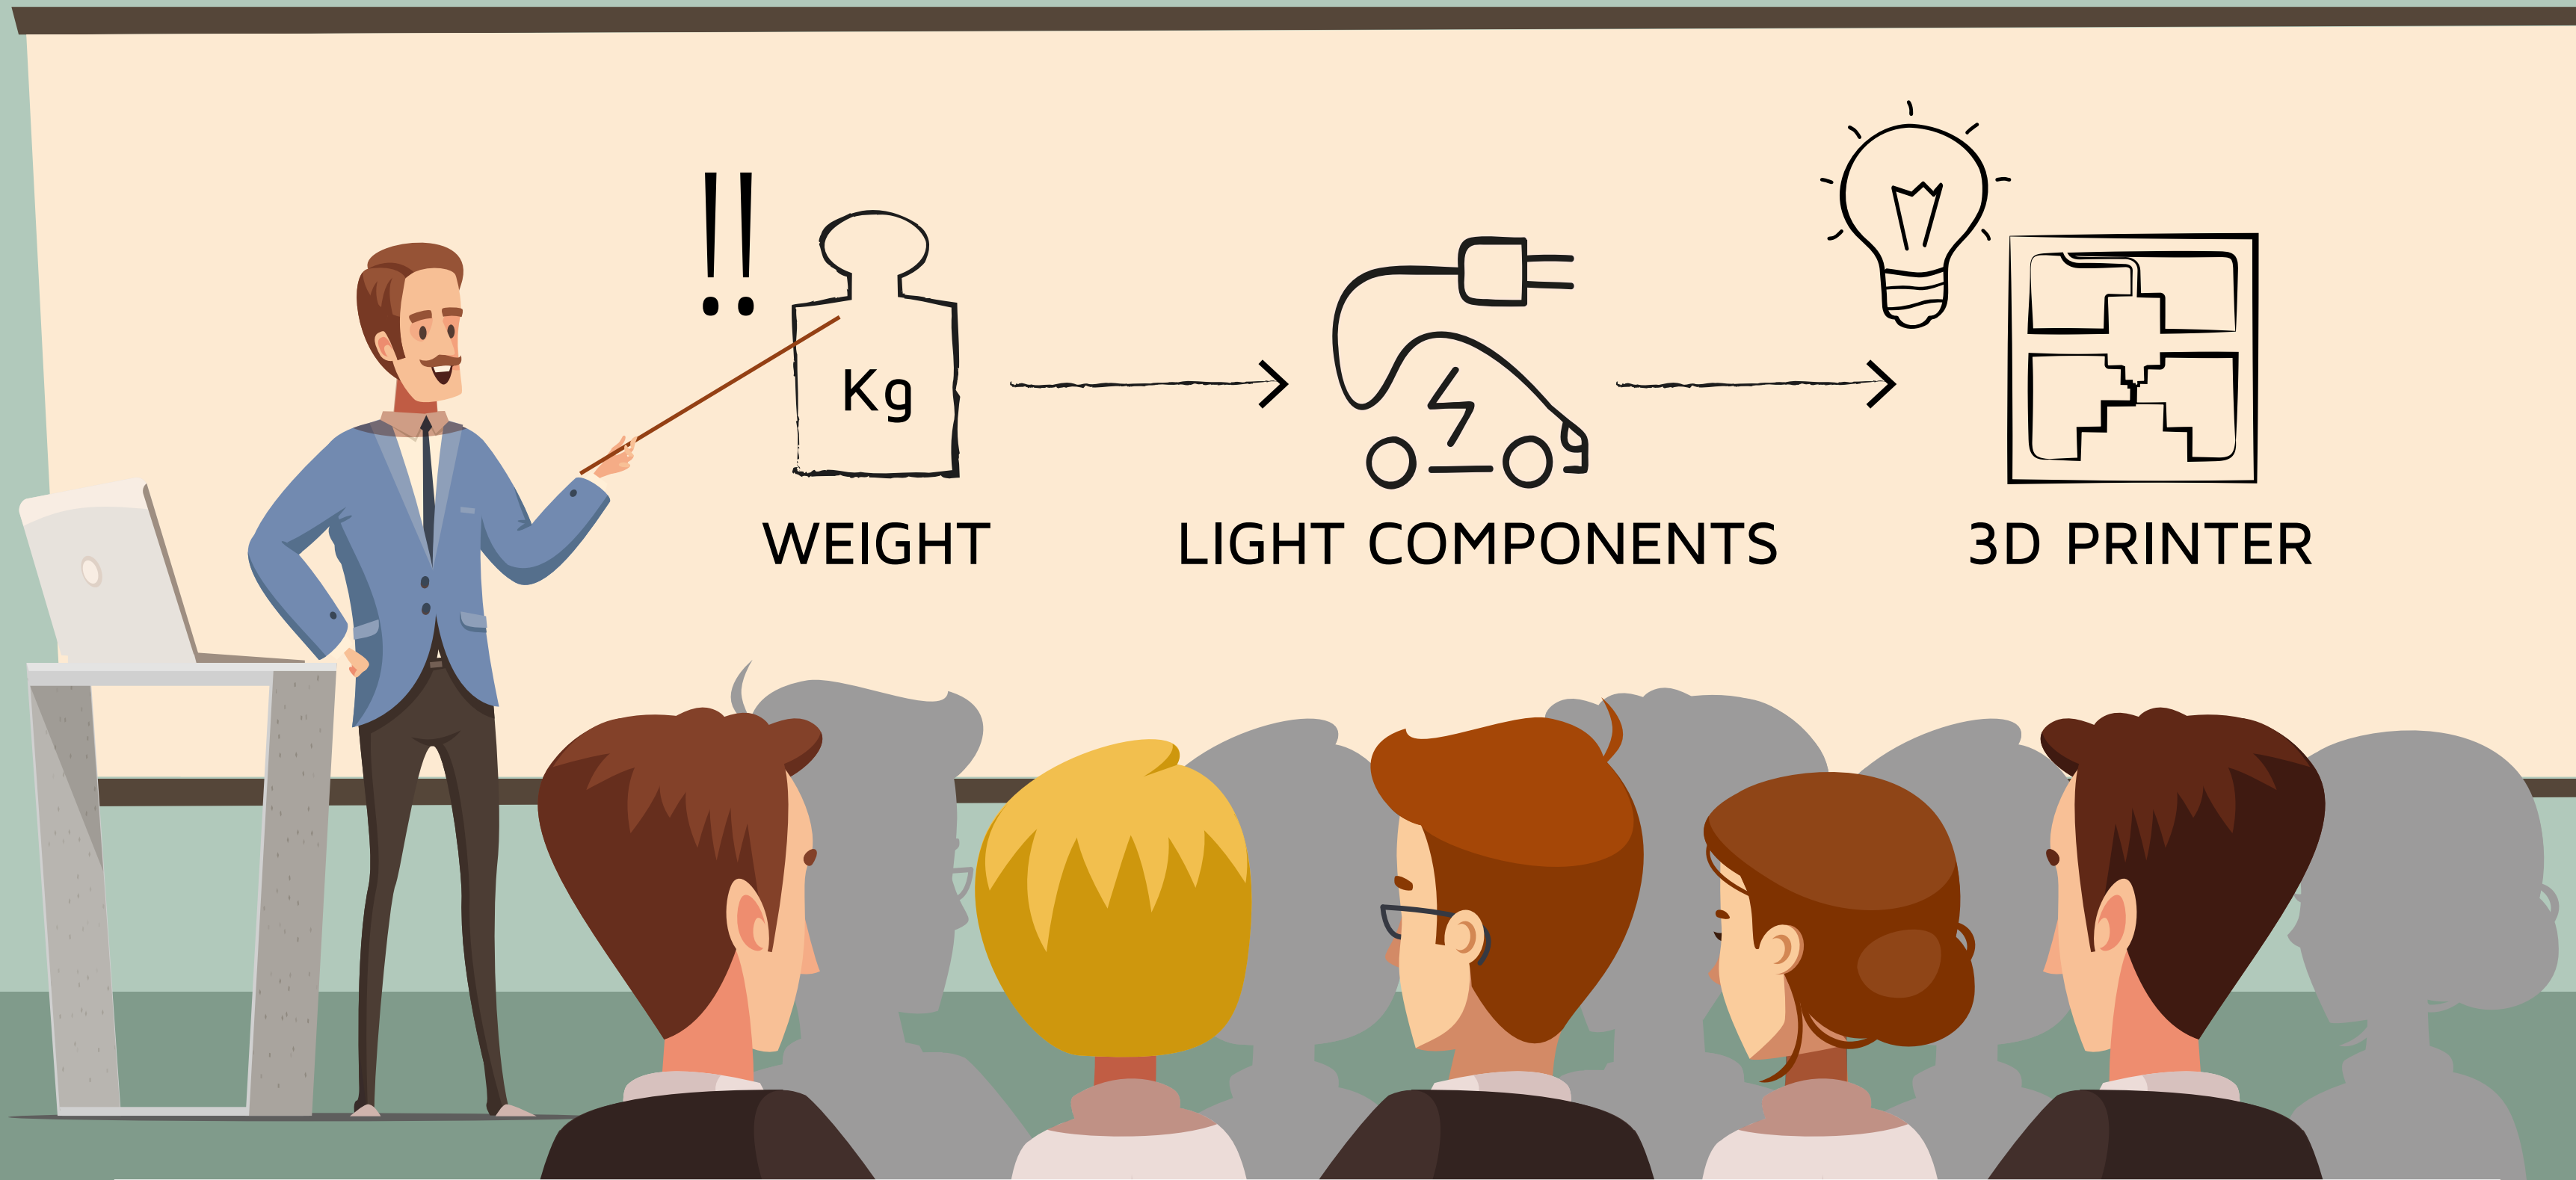

Deployment of a task force consisting of the companies “best” and external professionals.

Development of processes and investment into new production facilities.

Development of suppliers to partners.

Developing of know-how for additive manufacturing.

Using additive manufacturing technologies for rapid prototyping and parts production.

Exploration of alternative market segments related to e-mobility.