6 WORKSHOP MATERIAL

The following material was used for the promotion of the project:

- ForBioEnergy roll up
- ForBioEnergy brochures – Forest bioenergy in the protected Mediterranean areas
- Other materials (ppt presentations).

7 CONCLUSIONS

It's important to disseminate the information about the project and project results. We took every opportunity to promote ForBioEnergy project on our national events connected to forestry. Forest professionals, policy makers from the field of forestry, research and educational organisations, organisations dealing with energy, forest owners, general public and others participate in these events. For the project recognisability it is important to spread the news and results of the project to different and diverse type of stakeholders.
