The image shows a detailed architectural plan of a coastal area, specifically the 'Piazzetta su viale' section, with a scale of 1:100. The plan includes various green spaces, paths, and a central paved area. A red line highlights a specific section of the plan, which is then expanded into a 3D perspective rendering. The rendering depicts a paved square with a central circular feature, surrounded by trees, a bicycle rack, a bench, and two trash bins. Two informational signs are also present. The area is designed to be accessible for both pedestrians and cyclists.

In the first section starting from the waterfront boulevard, a parking area for pedestrians and cyclists, financed with municipal resources, will be built. Two benches, a fountain, two bike racks, two waste bins and two signs to provide landscape, naturalistic and cultural information will be inserted in order to improve the environmental awareness of beach users and encourage them to use more consciously and responsibly.

A tamarisk hedge will delimit the parking area and the pedestrian path that will lead to the beach, bordered by white marble curbs and a wooden fence that emphasizes the project area. This sector will be financed by "Intense" project to improve the accessibility of the "Green beach" area.

It will also be a meeting point for people with disabilities to be accompanied to the beach.

The coastal dune will be restored, typical of the marine beaches and now almost disappeared in Versilia, a sign will describe its importance as a good defense against erosion; the plants create a barrier against the intrusion of saline winds, protecting the most delicate vegetation behind; moreover the presence of the dune hinders the intrusion of the saline wedge.

The accessibility to the “Green Beach” area will be guaranteed with the measures and interventions necessary for the elimination of architectural barriers; all the works will be aimed at safeguarding accessibility to all services and facilities, giving adequate security and support to disabled people who want to reach the water's edge or immerse themselves in the water.

Providing information related to the local eco-system and the environment of the beach area and the surrounding area is a way to improve the environmental awareness of users and encourage them to further deepen the characteristics and traditions of the area and its people.
