Transnational working groups and learning hub with seven thematic learning modules are improving transnational knowledge exchange. Health care actors and stakeholders get the possibility to use state-of-the-art knowledge in the field of integrated health care and digitalization. The international context of the project helps to transfer experiences and generate new knowledge. Learning hub is developed for a multi-actor approach in a quadruple helix context. The aim of the learning activity is to generate solution-oriented cooperation and accelerate learning mechanism in Central Europe.

Learning consist of following thematic learning modules:

- Digitalisation for Healthcare management,
- Connected health and network building,
- Digitalisation for health promotion and prevention,
- digital assistance in health care delivery,
- monitoring & analytics of health care trends,
- technical & organisational infrastructure for integrated digital healthcare,
- data security.

Modular learning hub creates an collaborative space where project partners, mentors, stakeholders and interested people or institutions can exchange knowledge within integrated digital healthcare. Learning hub is innovative, because geographical gaps between regions could be overcome and new transnational knowledge will be generated in seven thematic focuses.
